Get Ready for the 22nd Annual Cooking on the Square

Cookeville, TN—Putnam County Habitat for Humanity looking forward to another great Cooking on the Square

Fall is in the air and preparation has begun for the 22nd annual Cooking on the Square! Presented by Signature Sponsor UBS, Cooking on the Square is an opportunity for you to support PCHFH while enjoying delicious gumbo, jambalaya and other Cajun themed soups and stews.

Mark your calendars for October 26th, 2018 from 11 am – 1:30 pm on the courthouse square. This year there will be TWO entrances and TWO bowl tents, which will streamline entry into the event and make picking out your bowl easier than ever. The entrances will be at Jefferson Avenue and Freeze Street and Broad St and Dixie Ave. We will also have our poplar Grab and Go commemorative mugs for those who want to grab a mug and start eating.

For those who like to have a jump on the event, there will be Advance ticket sales starting October 3rd at Progressive Savings Bank, American Bank and Trust, Bank of Putnam County, Citizens Bank, First National Bank, SouthEast Bank, First Volunteer Bank, F & M Bank, U S Bank, Wilson Bank and Regions Bank. Advanced tickets will be $20 and the day of the event, the tickets will be $25.

For your donation, you can choose a keepsake bowl while sampling soups from 80 local cooks. Baked goods fill Sweet Street for your enjoyment! You also get Great Harvest bread, and a drink, along with the chance to visit with your neighbors and enjoy the beginning of our lovely Tennessee fall.

Putnam County HFH builds and sells homes to qualified low-income families.
